Dear Customers,

in the course of transparent and open communication and our focus on the best possible health of humans and animals, we inform about a current recall.

We are recalling the following item due to exceeding the maximum content of ragweed seeds:

This concerns all items with the following best before date / batch:

Ragweed seeds do not pose a risk to animals. When the feed is scattered on the ground, the seeds can germinate and give rise to a ragweed plant whose pollen can trigger allergic reactions in humans. We regret the incident and apologize for any inconvenience.
